Seeking your Participation

Edith Cowan University (ECU), in consultation with the Australian Veterinary Association, is conducting research to determine the occupational, social, emotional and physical well-being of veterinarians in Australia. The findings of this research will enable relevant stakeholders to make informed decisions about matters impacting on the experience of veterinarians. This research has been given ethics approval by the Human Research Ethics Committee at ECU.

All registered veterinarians are invited to participate in this research. If you are not currently working your input is still sought and valued. No identifying information is required; data are collected anonymously via the independent survey provider, QuestionPro. To participate, please click on the link below (or, alternatively, copy and paste the address into your browser window).
